

A Horrible Dream

I had a horrible dream last night, it was so scary!

After dinner, I threw a lot of waste away. After that, I brushed my teeth and went to bed. That's when my horrible dream started.

When I woke up, I found myself on an abandoned street. I walked until the end of it, it was a dead end! I turned away and tried to walk home, but when I looked back, I saw a lot of monsters that looked like waste I threw last night! I was horrified so I quickly ran past them and ran away from that street for my life. But then, I came face to face to even more monsters that blocked the exit. I was completely surrounded!

At the end, I woke up and I was sweating. I felt wide awake, and I couldn't fall back to sleep anymore. From this horrible and terrifying dream, I learnt that we mustn't throw too much recyclable waste away or it will cause pollution and make the environment dirty.
